Synergized Aloe vera Forte is a unique blend of Aloe Vera and trusted ayurvedic formulas like Triphala and Trikatu that help improve digestion, assimilation and bioavailability.

Its principal ingredient Aloe Vera Gel Spray Dried Powder 200:1 (100% Solids of Aloe), is rich in Polysaccharides and all the nutrients & bioactive components of this miracle plant. It contains over 200 biologically-active ingredients, including phytonutrients, essential amino acids, lipids/healthy fats, vitamins, minerals, trace minerals, electrolytes, and enzymes that help keep your body nourished. Some in-vitro, in vivo, and clinical studies, showed that Aloe vera increases the bioavailability of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and medicines. For example, Aloe improves the absorption of both vitamins C and E and complements these vitamins. In addition, Aloe Vera plays a significant role in protection from oxidative stress and acts as an intracellular antioxidant and free radical scavenger. The natural substances available in Aloe vera support a healthy metabolism, provide antioxidant support, checks inflammation and help stimulate the white blood cells in your body that act as your natural defense system against stressors like seasonal allergies. Aloe vera helps reduce the toxins from the body and assist in the elimination of waste that can slow down the cellular process and inhibit nutrient absorption. It clears built-up toxins (like lactic acid) from muscles and circulates oxygen to help muscles and joints recuperate from the stress of working out.

Research studies showed that polysaccharides from Aloe boost the growth of beneficial gut bacteria such as Bifidobacterium spp. and Lactobacillus spp, helping maintain a healthy intestinal pH while promoting a friendly environment for probiotics in the digestive tract. These polysaccharides also modulate immune function through macrophage activation and cytokine production. The polysaccharides found in Aloe not only help to reduce high levels of toxins but, by doing so, assist in increasing nutrient absorption by transporting nutrients from your foods and supplements to the body.

Aloe vera provides nineteen of the twenty-two amino acids the body needs, seven of which are essential and not synthesized by our body, so we must resort to external inputs. They are critical because, when combined, they are necessary for life. Also serve, among other functions, of raw material in the production of other cellular products, such as hormones and pigments. Both essential and nonessential amino acids, involved in the formation of neurotransmitters enzymes (chemical messengers), antibodies, and nutrient transporters. Similar in structure to human cholesterol, phytosterols of Aloe compete with cholesterol for absorption; as a result, the dangerous LDL cholesterol will pass out of the body without doing damage. In addition, with time, our body would produce less LDL cholesterol so that the levels will drop.

Guggulu resin has been used since the Vedic ages by Ayurvedic physicians for improving Body's innate ability to metabolize fat. It helps break down fatty foods and flushes bad cholesterol out of the system. In Ayurveda, Guggulu has also supported the purification of body tissues and strengthened the immune system. Because of these effects, it addresses skin health issues caused by a deranged immune system and impure blood.

Guggulu enhances nearly all metabolic processes (Agni) that create all bodily tissues (Dhatu). Thus, it is a suitable product for those who complain of urinary tract infections frequently. Sushruta Samhita, Shrangdhar Samhita, and other ancient Ayurvedic treatises recommended Guggulu to treat medoroga, a condition similar to atherosclerosis. Guggulu has been widely investigated by researchers across the globe for its Hypolipidaemic action and anti-inflammatory effect.

Synergized Guggulu Forte has been formulated by fortifying and synergizing Guggulu Extracts with Trikatu and Triphala. Synergized Ganoderma Forte is a unique formulation containing Polysaccharides rich Ganoderma extracts fortified with the Licorice extracts and Giloy satva.

Ganoderma, popularly called Reishi Mushroom, and other herbs of this composition boost immunity, help maintain healthy longevity and provide antioxidant support. Its principal ingredient, Ganoderma lucidum, yields miraculous health benefits. It contains 400 bioactive compounds, including triterpenoids, polysaccharides, nucleotides, sterols, fatty acids and proteins/peptides. These phytonutrients positively affect the body's vital organs.

Ganoderma has been considered a precious mushroom in Chinese health classics such as Shennong Ben Cao Jing and Xin Xiu Ben Cao. This literature described that it strengthens muscles and bones, prolongs life, reinforces the kidney, soothes the nerves, and improves eyesight. Regular consumption of Ganoderma has been linked to a relaxed body. It mainly regulates human immune function by promoting macrophage phagocytosis and increasing NO (nitric oxide) production. In addition, it has a protective effect on macrophage injury induced by reactive oxygen species.

Free radicals and reactive oxygen species, produced as side-products of several metabolic processes, can seriously harm cells through oxidation processes. The long-term presence of free radicals and reactive oxygen species accelerates aging and numerous age-associated damage in the body. Some studies show that G. lucidum increases the activity of superoxide dismutase and catalase, enzymes involved in eliminating damaging reactive oxygen species. Therefore, reducing oxidative stress helps maintain already healthy blood pressure and cholesterol, triglycerides and blood glucose levels.

Further, Giloy satva and Licorice extracts work synergistically to improve these health benefits of Ganoderma. The administration of a combination of Giloy satva licorice and Ganoderma extracts to the elderly population during the winter season might be used as a natural strategy to reduce the duration and severity of respiratory tract infections. Further, Giloy satva and Licorice extracts work synergistically to improve these health benefits of Ganoderma.

It also helps maintain already healthy blood pressure, cholesterol, triglycerides, and blood glucose levels. It helps us keep quiet and calm during a stressful situation.

It is believed that humans face difficulty initiating or sustaining voluntary activity due to mental and physical fatigue several times in life. Fatigue is a common symptom in sickness and in health. In addition, long-term accumulated fatigue can lead to karoshi (a Japanese word meaning death due to overwork). In China, cordyceps is used to restore health after various diseases and hasten recovery from exhaustion because of its adaptogenic properties and ability to enhance endurance and strength.

Cordyceps is a bidirectional modulator with potentiating and suppressive effects on the immune system by regulating innate and adaptive immunity. Immunostimulators restore the immune system to normal and reduce reoccurring and life-threatening infections. Immunosuppressive herbs control autoimmune disorders and inflammation when excessive tissue damage occurs and prevent transplant rejection after an organ transplant. These biological activities are correlated with the bioactive compounds present in Cordyceps including polysaccharides, nucleosides, sterols, flavonoids, cyclic peptides, phenolic, bioanthracenes, polyketides, and alkaloids.

Sea Buckthorn and Giloy satva may help improve resistance to infections and along with Cordyceps, may reduce unhealthy oxidative stress.

Mucuna Forte is matchless nutritional support for brain cells and helps enhance the emotional quotient of physically and emotionally weak persons. It balances 'Vata' and help the body fight 'Vata' disorders (neurological disorders) such as 'Kampa' (tremors), 'Stambha' (stiffness), 'Vishada' (depression), symptoms that bear clinical resemblance to Parkinson's disease(PD) and other illnesses caused by neurodegeneration.

Its active ingredient, Mucuna pruriens seed extracts, is a rich plant source of L-dopa (L-dihydroxyphenylalanine), a natural dopamine precursor in the brain. In Parkinson's, the content of the brain neurotransmitter known as dopamine gets reduced in the brain tissue due to degeneration of the cells that produce dopamine.

As L- dopa is the precursor of dopamine, it crosses the barrier and gets converted into dopamine resuming the neurotransmission.

Due to its antioxidant effect, Mucuna pruriens also scavenge free radicals known for damaging lipids, protein, DNA and ultimately, cells. The other phytochemicals, nicotine, available in small amounts in Mucuna pruriens seeds also help release dopamine in the brain.

Lavang and Jaiphal potentiate mood-enhancing properties of Mucuna. As a nervine and nutritive tonic, Mucuna forte is also a good choice for those requiring aphrodisiac action. In addition, it nourishes the body to combat these physical weaknesses. Mucuna forte is rich in protein, fiber, iron, potassium, vitamin C, A and B.

Product Description

An estimated 30% adult men suffer from consistent inability to obtain or maintain an erection for satisfactory sexual relations. Studies have shown that high levels of lipids, blood pressure and blood glucose, oxidative stress, physical and mental stress, depression and poor gut health are the major cause of impotence in men. Ageing is a process characterized by a progressive decline in cellular function, organismal fitness and increased risk of age-related health problems including impotence. Ayurveda and TCM connect low sexual desire with a decline in Ojas, overall energy, poor mood, reduced mental performance.

Stress and anxiety may trigger an increased production of stress hormones and a lower testosterone level. Studies have predicted that dysregulation of the hypothalamic-pituitary-adrenal axis (HPA axis) is often at the root of low sexual vitality, diminished energy, stamina, strength, mood, immunity, and more.

Kamayur Capsule is a unique formulation prepared from restorative and invigorating herbs and spices that enhance mood, stamina, pleasure, performance, vigor, and drive. Adaptogenic herbs of Kamayur capsules, such as Ashwagandha, Mucuna, Ginseng, Bridhara, and Shatawari, reduce stress related adverse effects on the body. In addition, these herbs balance the HPA axis and create conditions for natural glandular function and normal hormone production. The herbs of Kamayog protect cells from daily wear and tear and support immune function. These adaptogens also promote a feeling of wellbeing, a more stable mood and better cognitive functioning. Furthermore, adaptogens increase oxygen uptake, enhance blood flow, and support cardiovascular functioning, promoting stamina and physical performance. Anabolic herbs of Kamayur, such as Ginseng, Gokshuru Ashwagandha, Shatawari, Bridhara, Semalmoosli, and Beejband also help build muscle mass and promote healthy bones.

Testosterone is the primary androgen hormone produced in males. It exerts tissue-dependent effects such as masculinization, anabolism (tissue building), and sexual arousal.

The concentrated and standardized extracts of Panax Ginseng Tribulus terrestris, Mucuna pruriens, Asparagus racemosus, Argyreia speciosa, Mombaxmalabaricum, Withaniasomnifera in Kamayur improve testosterone levels. They also reduce SHBG's binding of free testosterone; you can turn the table and achieve a healthy erection once again.

Oxidative stress plays a significant role in various human health issues, including endocrine dysfunction, frequently interrupting sexual function. Antioxidants of Kamayur such as Vitis vinifera polyphenols, Ginseng, Cinnamon, Mucuna pruriens, and Ashwagandha, can delay or prevent oxidative stress and are widely used in the hope of maintaining the health of the endocrine system.

The intestinal system is a significant physical factor with many unexpected effects on our ability to respond and perform sexually. Studies have shown that about 80 to 90 percent of serotonin is produced in the gut. The rejuvenating herbs of Kamayur, such as Kulanjan, Nutmeg, Mace, Clove, Mace, Piper longum, Black Pepper, Ginger Cardamom, Cinnamon, Ammomumsubulatum, Embeliaribes, Nutgrass, Thymus, Coriander and Tejpata helps improve the gut health, thereby providing increased relationship satisfaction and self-esteem in humans.

Benefits

- Increases testosterone levels and helps improve libido and proper erection.
- Reduces SHBG's (sex hormone binding globulin) binding of free testosterone thus increases percentage of free (sex-arousing) testosterone
